

A Distinction With a Difference

YOU may not always get what you pay for. It takes a good judge of values to do that, but if there is one sure rule in business it is—you pay for all you get. You may not be able to see the difference between engines of similar appearance at different prices, but if you buy from a reputable firm you may be sure the difference in quality is there.

I H C Oil and Gasoline Engines

cost more than some others because they are more carefully made, and more thoroughly tested. Skillful designing, better material, better workmanship, more careful assembling, and more thorough testing, tell in the long run. Given equal care an I H C engine costs less per year of service than any other engine you can buy. If an I H C engine is given all the work it will do, pumping, sawing wood, running the grindstone, feed grinder, hay press, silage cutter, repair shop machines, cream separator, churn, washing machine, etc., etc., it will pay for itself in a very short time in money and labor saved.

I H C engines are made in every style—horizontal, vertical, air and water-cooled, stationary, portable and mounted on skids, to operate on gas, gasoline, kerosene, naphtha, distillate or alcohol, in sizes from 1 to 50 H. P. Kerosene-gasoline tractors, 12, 15, 20, 25 and 45-H P.

SENATOR TILLMAN SAYS JONES IS EMINENTLY QUALIFIED FOR GOVERNOR

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 7.—"No sensible man in the State believes that Judge Jones is in favor of social equality. He would make a good governor, for he is eminently qualified."

These statements are contained in a letter by Senator B. R. Tillman to Jas. L. Sims, editor of the Orangeburg Times and Democrat, which was announced here tonight.

"As you were the head of the reform movement and was governor when Judge Jones voted against separate car act, we would like for you to say whether you consider Judge Jones an advocate of social equality because he voted against the law, and whether in your judgment he would make a good governor of the State."

This question was asked of Senator Tillman by Mr. Sims and the above answer was received.

The following is Senator Tillman's letter:

"Hon. James L. Sims, Orangeburg, S. C.

"Dear Mr. Sims: I have your letter of July 29th, for which please accept my thanks.

"I have been surprised that Judge Jones has allowed Governor Blease to put him on the defensive and made him explain something that needed no explanation, for no sensible man in the state believes that Judge Jones is in favor of social equality, and Gov. Blease has laughed in his sleeve to see how shrewdly he has muddled the water. In other words, he has played politics more adroitly than the judge.

"In reply to your question: 'As you were the head of the reform movement and was governor when Judge Jones voted against the separate car act we would like for you to say whether you consider Judge Jones an advocate of social equality because he voted against the law, and whether in your judgment he would make a good governor for the state,' I answer:

"I do not consider that Judge Jones was an advocate of social equality because he voted against that law and I believe he would make a good governor, for he is eminently qualified.

"I say this more willingly because it cannot be construed as my taking sides as between the men, I announced last fall that I would not do this and thus far I have seen no reason why I should change my attitude.

"If the newspapers, keep on publishing such stuff as Grace's attack on the governor and the dictagraph 'slush' they will certainly make Blease governor again.

"Very sincerely yours,

B. R. Tillman."

TILLMAN HAS BEEN DISGUSTED BY DIRTY BRAND OF POLITICS

Says Candidates Have Desended to Blackguardism, Vulgarity and Obscenity on the Stump, and Refers to the Fact that He Resorted to Blows on the Floor of the Senate When the Word Lie Was Used.

(From The State.)

Washington, D. C.—Senator Tillman issued the following statement relative to political conditions in South Carolina, having special reference to the publication of a letter he wrote J. L. Sims of Orangeburg a few days ago.

"Many telegrams and letters have come to my office since the publication of my letter to Mr. Sims and I deem it both necessary and proper for me to make a statement to the press. In that way alone can I prevent mistakes from being made and having words and ideas put into my mouth which are not warranted.

"I have not written any letter which was intended or could be used as Jones campaign literature. I have desired to maintain the attitude of neutrality in the governor's race which I announced at the beginning. I have never believed a United States senator ought to take an active part in the nomination for state offices. What letters I have written were penned in the hope of moderating the fury with which charges and counter-charges were being hurled back and forth. But instead of producing that effect, it has seemed to increase the bitterness, and I am resolved that I will not permit myself to be drawn into this fight further. I am in Washington discharging the duties of my office as senator from South Carolina as well as my health and limited strength will permit. While my health is steadily improving I have no hope of it becoming sufficiently restored for me to do any speaking in the campaign. God knows I wish I could, for if there ever was a time when the people needed clearness of vision and sound advice, it is now. I could speak what I cannot write, and do it with more force and effectiveness.

The Primary Plan.

"Among the public services which I have rendered South Carolina, I consider none of them more valuable than the aid I gave in the establishment of the primary system for state offices with the county-to-county campaign. When rightly used, this latter is a great educational force in instructing the people upon many public questions and bringing them face to face with the men who are seeking their votes. I have been sincerely anxious that nothing should be done to impair the usefulness of this educational agency. Instead of our candidates discussing great public questions and teaching the people, the meetings have been little else than vulgar quarreling matches in which blackguardism, vulgarity, obscenity and abuse almost without limit and all manner of filthy speeches have been allowed to predominate. The state's good name has been dragged in the mire to the disgust and shame of all right-thinking Carolinians. Patriotic citizens must take counsel together, how to lift these meetings back to a high plane and make them the great educators they are intended to be.

"Judge Jones ought to have been content with what I said and stopped there. He had no right to incite Governor Blease's friends to bombard me with telegrams and letters, by offering $100 reward to any one who would get me to declare Blease or Duncan were eminently qualified for the governor's office. I do not see that it is my business to dictate to the people of South Carolina as to whom they should elect governor.

Preferred Richards.

"If I could have done that John G. Richards, Jr., would be governor now. I am naturally frank and blunt and somewhat impulsive, therefore, in writing to friends in South Carolina I have not been on the watch lest some phrase in my letter would lay me under suspicion of being a Bleasite, Jonesite or a Duncanite. For instance some days ago, in writing to a friend in Marlboro, I said: 'Sensible men will never weigh Senator Tillman and Governor Blease in the same scales. If the fools do, it is not any fault of mine.' I said this in the same spirit in which I said: 'No sensible man in the state believes that Judge Jones is in favor of social equality.' Just as no one but a fool will regard Blease as the only representative of Tillmanism or its best exponent. There are hundreds of Tillmanites in the state who are better exponents of both than either Jones or Blease or Duncan. I do not see what that has to do with it any way. The issue is, or ought to be, integrity of purpose, patriotism and ability, cleanness of character, high ideals, capacity to lead the people and show them the best way to go, courage to execute the laws undilutely and without fear or favor.

Has Shamed Him.

"I have been made ashamed, as every South Carolinian must be, at the vulgarity, indecency and cowardice that has been shown on the stump. When my brother senators read about the passing of the lie being in every meeting in South Carolina, they with a veiled sneer allude to it in surprise. I have no word to say because I cannot. I resented the lie with a blow on the floor of the senate and that has been regarded here as an illustration of the state's spirit. The people of the state ought to compel those who seek their votes for high official positions behave and speak like gentlemen. The people can do it and the people alone can do it. One can speak boldly, aggressively and truthfully, and not flinch from stating the facts, and do it in parliamentary language, and public opinion should demand this and the people should enforce it as a rule. Else, for the state's good name, we had better cease having these state campaigns at all; and they are too valuable to give up because of the manner in which they are being prostituted. It is a disgrace to have them conducted in the way they have been this year. It would be little short of a calamity to have them cease altogether.

"One word in conclusion, and the most important word at all. There are men in the state who believe if Judge Jones is not elected that the state will go to the dogs. There are others equally honest and patriotic who believe that if Blease is not elected the reform movement and principles it stood for will be destroyed. Both are wrong. The fabric of our government is not built on such a flimsy foundation, but it is of vital importance—and I say this with all solemnity of which I am capable—that the legislature to be elected this year is of more importance than is filling the governor's office. If we have brave, true men, who are honest and not to be browbeaten or bribed or seduced into betraying their constituents, no bad governor can do us any irreparable injury, and without them no good governor can do much good. So I implore my fellow citizens to see to it that the very best men in each county are sent to the house of representatives and the senate. Then, whether Blease or Jones is elected, we will be safe.

(Signed) "B. R. TILLMAN."
